Back to the Master Plan-- petition accepted

The petition presented at last week's Annual Meeting of the Town of Elk Point asking for the return to the recreational master plan for ball diamond construction was accepted by Council Monday night after considerable discussion.

Mayor Byron Mann said he felt the 155 - signature document showed "sufficient evidence" that the circular, 4 - diamond layout proposed to take the place of the master plan was not what the community's ball players wish to have. The petition asked that Diamonds 1B, 2F and 1H be constructed as funding permits, delaying construction of a fourth diamond, as recommended in the Master Plan, for some time.

Funding still available from the ABCD Grant totals $30,875, of which $15,000 is allocated for fencing and backstops. Fencing materials cost approximately $6500 for a slowpitch/fastball diamond, $7885 for a baseball diamond. The available funding would allow for fencing two diamonds, with a $2000 nest-egg toward a third. Red shale topping for the infields can be purchased from the $15,875 still remaining for labor and site preparation, and will cost between $2000 and $4000 per diamond. Black dirt will also be financed from this portion.

Council voted 5-1 to rescind the March 14 motion approving construction of a circular 4 - diamond concept, with Councillor Marshall Kachmar remaining adamant that the matter should be tabled until a cost study could be done on the two plans.

Council is also studying the suggestion made at the Annual Meeting that a by-election be

Chamber challenged to participact

Participation, and the Great Participation Challenge coming up May 25, were introduced to the Elk Point Chamber of Commerce at last Wednesday's meeting, by Recreation and Cultural coordinator Gail Kozicky.

Mrs. Kozicky says that the object of the challenge is to get as many people in Elk Point area to take part in 15 minutes of physical activity--anything from walking, to aerobics, to dancing to rocking in a rocking chair, depending on the participant's ability, and then calling in on a special telephone line to register. At the day's end, results will be tallied and called in to the national participation headquarters. An ambitious goal of getting 88% of the population involved in some way, has been set.

The Chamber agreed to donate $50 toward expenses of the project, as well as offering 5 volunteers--Gordon LeDrew, Allan Frankiw, Armand Houle, Ellen Ziomek and Vic Stepa--to help with organization of events for the day.

The Chamber also discussed the overwhelming success of the Trade Fair, and offered sincere congratulations to the Agricultural Society, organizers of the event.

Historical Society President Frank Mayner noted that while Elk Point's businesses have been very supportive of the Society's historical mural project, very few individuals have donated toward the cause. Any donations would be welcome, and would be put to good use during the completion and installation stages.

held to fill the vacant council seat. Council members will be given until the May 9 meeting to canvass their constituents to get an indication of the public's wishes in the matter.

A request for relaxation of the dog control regulations was not considered, however, as Council agreed to renew the contract with Rhodrin Kennels for another year of animal control. It was noted that there has been a substantial decrease in dog complaints during the past year, along with a considerable increase in licensing fees.

Bylaw 482, regarding formation of a Tourism Action Committee, was given all three readings at Monday's meeting. Recommendation on who should be appointed to the committee was left in the hands of the Economic Development Committee, who will seek willing volunteers.

Much discussion centred on the municipal budget, which has been pared down more than $60,000 overall, with very few departments remaining untouched. Increased in grants requested by several bodies were cut either fractionally or completely following a study of spending priorities.

Increases water rates are also being contemplated to bring revenue in that department closer in line with operational costs.

Council was reminded that next week is Anti-Litter Week in Elk Point. The Boy Scouts have again volunteered to clean park areas during that week.

Lionesses offer walk-a-thon challenge

The Elk Point and District Lioness Club will be participating in the May 14 Lions Club Journey For Sight Walk-a-thon.

Our club would like to issue a challenge to all other service clubs in Elk Point: Meet us at the F.C.S.S. building on Saturday, May 14, 1988 and try to beat our participation level as well as our pledges. So, put on your sweats and walking shoes and try your best for the Journey For Sight.

We would like to take this opportunity to thank the community once again for their support of our cookbook. All copies have been sold and many have crossed Canada as Christmas and Birthday gifts. It's projects such as this as well as our highly successful 'Ladies' Night Out' which enable us to continue serving Elk Point with our various community projects.

HRL INSTALLED — Supreme Installing Officer D.D. Alice Hovelkamp places the collar of office on Honored Royal Lady Jeannine Boratynec.

NEW EXALTED RULER — Dave Yake is given the oath of office by Grand Installing Officer, D.D. Ernie Sweeny.

and Bro. Ron Barwick as Historian.

Secretaries' week

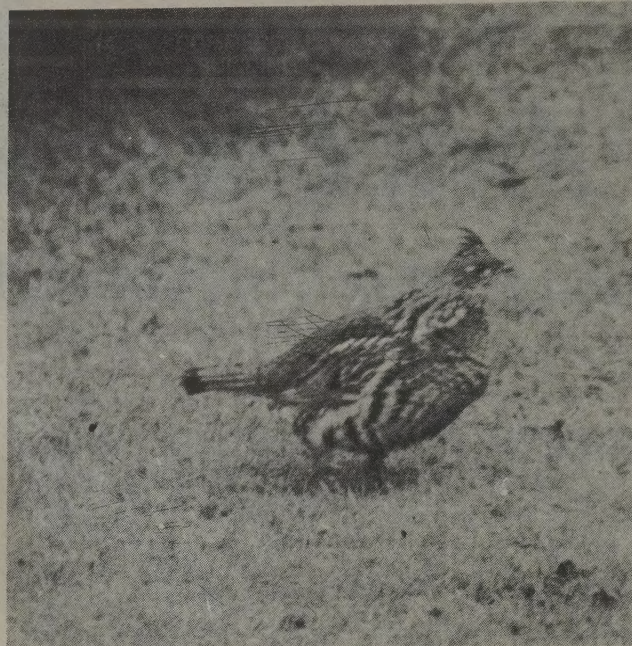

Today we salute an often over-worked, often underappreciated, and always indispensable segment of our business world -- our secretaries.

These long-suffering individuals answer angry/tiresome/longwinded phone calls with aplomb. Neatly type out letters we scrawl in near-unreadable shorthand / hieroglyphics, remind us when and where we're supposed to be at a specific time, and cheerfully do our errands uptown along with their own. When they go on their hard earned holidays, we're lost, longing for the day of their return.

When we go on holidays, we feel confident they can hold the fort in our absence.

They deserve fresh flowers on their desks, the softest velvet chairs in quiet, air conditioned offices, hand-dipped chocolates and someone to keep their coffee cup filled. For 364 days of the year, they stand very little chance of getting any of the above. Today, Professional Secretaries Day, is their turn for the tender loving care they really should have.

Bless them all!!

THIS PHOTO TAKEN FROM THE DECK — As a brave partridge wanders across the still-brown yard. They may be a bit 'addled' at this time of year, so we should be especially careful of them. Many are killed by cars. - I. Magnusson

Alberta Trails

By Irene Magnusson

How many of you get the 'urge to roam' at this time of the year? I'm sure most of you do, even if you have to suppress it, in the interests of keeping your jobs, or getting the crop in or the yard raked, etc.

All my life, as soon as the snow was gone - and often before it was all gone - I've had this great urge to leave the home yard, go out on the trails, and look at things I haven't seen since last summer. I can go afoot, walking through the woods and meadows, following the gurgling creek, searching for sprouting greenery, listening for the first birdsong, the first frog's "creeee - creee," from the brimming sloughs.

Other times, when I had someone to travel with, we would get in the car or truck, if we could sneak away from cleaning seed, fixing machinery, watching sows and cows and mending fences, usually in the evening, and go to some little lake, to see if the ice was gone, or watch the sun set across the water in a blaze of red and gold, to see the strands of ducks sprinkled across the ripples, resting from their long drive north, looking for mates, for nesting sites, chattering away.

These might be the times we saw wildlife, so busy with their own affairs as to ignore the presence of we humans so close, as the time at Cold Lake, we walked the pier in early spring, (or was it fall? - there was ice on the rocks, and along the pier) - anyway, this beaver came up in the shallows, with a mouthful of seaweed, climbed onto a protruding rock, and had his supper, while we walked closer and closer, snapping pictures till we ran out of film.

One spring we sat in the car, on that causeway across a little lake east of Bonnyville, and watched yellow-headed blackbirds in the roadside willows, most beautiful, brilliant black and gold. They sang nice, too. We don't have those around here, although I have seen them east of the Triangle Greenhouse, in St. Paul.

Spring was not complete without a quick run down to the North Saskatchewan River, to look for crocuses. All the hillsides were dotted with them, early in April, but we especially looked where the road runs down to the Campsite now, west of the new bridge. Usually the very first ones bloomed there. At the same time, we could check to see how the ice was and try to guess when we should return to see it going out.

One spring, a day was snatched from the farm scurry - we felt the land was still too wet for cultivation, calving was finished, machines stood ready. We got an early start, and headed off for Cutknife and vicinity, where we knew we had a few relatives, but had never got over there to meet them. We thought the time had come.

We didn't even phone first, just got up and went. Somewhere along the way, we waited a few minutes as men with pick-ups and a saddlehorse or two herded a mass of cattle across the highway. Later, near Marsden, where the highway swings down to cross the Battle River, we saw three deer on the hillside, brown against the brown grass. They paid us no heed whatever.

We found the first family of relatives, near Baldwinton, but my cousin was away. Her husband sent us up to another family, saying we would be in time for lunch, since they were not on Daylight time, as he was, (they were four miles away) and he had already had his lunch. So we did that, and it worked out. We also found that the farmers were in the fields already over there, which they were not around Elk Point.

On our return from there, either that trip, or another made later, we watched thousands of swallows making their little mud-ball nests under the bridge (on the Battle River, I think), dipping their beaks in the soft mud at the water's edge, flitting back like arrows, to plaster and shape. I had never seen this before, at least not a mass of them such as this. Now they may be seen anywhere, gluing their nests along the church walls, under barn eaves, under our own bridge.

Here in my yard I watched a partridge strut on a moss-covered log, suspicious of me, but after I stood very still for a long time, he gained courage and went about what nature told him he must do, beating his wings to make the soft but carrying call - the drumming which - he and I both hope - will conjure up a mate for him.

This is a sad spring. Very little water loiters in the sloughs or creeks. A few pitiful crocuses poked their heads up through the dust and dead grass. The hillsides are not greening as they should. But spring migration is going on, somewhere. Flocks of ducks and other water birds are

Letter to the editor

Town approved fields

By Marshall Kachmar

The series of events, dating from the March 23 letter to the editor and the petition presented by Mr. Ray Hellquist at the April 18 Town of Elk Point Annual Meeting has prompted me to reply to the ball enthusiasts and rate payers.

This council has worked very sincerely in the best interests of all citizens it represents. This effort is a direct result of your trust and respect you gave us on election day.

Unfortunately misinformation and lack of facts can find us with opposing views. This happens to be the case in the proposed Ball Diamond Development on our recreation land.

My purpose is to provide you with my view point on this present situation.

Early in its mandate, the newly elected council, identified as one of its priorities, the immediate need of Ball Diamond Development to fulfill this recreational demand. As ratepayers were still paying for the purchase of the recreation land the task of obtaining funding for such development was made that much more difficult.

The proposed development costs and phasing as outlined in the master plan seemed prohibitive and phase I of 2 Ball Diamonds would not sufficiently address the need. Serious discussion on this matter, resulted in the Mayor's idea, with full support of council members, to pursue the circular concept of 4 Ball Diamond Development being most cost effective.

This circular 4 Diamond concept with red shale infield was designed thanks to Mayor Mann on his own initiative. Funding for this project was applied for, through the ABCD Grant Program, to avoid placing any burden on the ratepayers of the town.

All concerns on safety were implemented in the design: Higher and wider backstops with more overhang protection, and wider spacing between diamonds. Diamonds were designed for fastball as well as to accommodate slowpitch and minor baseball.

The suggestion at annual meeting that the lack of fencing between diamonds gives rise to the possibility of outfielders colliding while chasing foul balls is as ridiculous as providing fencing between fielders to avoid colliding when chasing fly balls.

Suggestions of go slow on Ball Diamond Development: That is, build 2 this year and when funds can be raised build additional diamonds in following years. This will eventually cost the ratepayer money, whether it

Zany theatrics Volunteer Night hit

By Irene Magnusson

In keeping with Volunteer Appreciation Week, Marnie McCowan, FCSS Director in Elk Point, planned an evening for the many volunteers who try to make life more liveable for the people of Elk Point and elsewhere.

Thursday, April 21, was the chosen night. Goodies were prepared, entertainment planned. The main trouble was - it was also Bingo night over at the Elks hall, and there was a game between the Oilers and Flames on TV, and perhaps a certain amount of "they mean someone else - not me." In all, ending up with a rather small crowd to enjoy the very good program presented.

In a welcoming comment, Marnie brought greetings from dignitaries, introduced Board Members present, and thanked all volunteers for the excellent work they do. She refrained from naming all groups, for fear of missing someone, but rather included all volunteers in thanks and appreciation.

Vicki Brooker spoke on the new

"Search for a Heart of Gold" promotion, being offered by Air Canada and urged any who knew of others who do outstanding good deeds to nominate them. "The winner could well be here in Elk Point," she said. Application forms are available at the Review office.

The entertainment began. A comedy in 2 Acts, was offered by the Lakeland Theatre Company, a group of local youngsters, who wrote, directed and acted in a hilarious farce, which turned into a search for the "Golden Cabij" by Super-Duperman, Alberta Rose and his helper, the Sherpa guide. Their search took them through mountains, plains and caverns with realistic echos, past hazardous beings who had to be quenched, until the final triumph. That conditions were less than perfect for their search, did not deter them. And a good deal of laughter was provoked.

Actors in this skit were Jason Smereka (Alberta Rose) and Shaun Blize (these two wrote the play), Mark Boulter (Sherpa guide), Sheldon Porcina, and Shaun Sheplawy - (who played many parts). Christy Boulter, as the tipsy girl, added a few laughs.

Intermission time was filled by one leprechaun, who turned out to be Tommy Ray, 10, a local kid with talent - who according to his own prediction, is headed for Hollywood and stardom. Following a lengthy monologue on the woes of the leprechaun-gnome-elf business, he gave up on the job, and became a song-and-dance man - to delight of the audience.

Door prize, of a lovely basket of fruit, was won by Bess Jendruck. Guests and actors alike were treated to coffee and an assortment of tasty goodies, to please the sweet-tooth of any volunteer.

A successful evening, enjoyed by all present, and for those who didn't get there - their loss. We hope to see these energetic youngsters in action again before too long. And from one "volunteer" - many thanks!

Baptist ladies' rally--a day for women

By Irene Magnusson
Saturday, April 16th, 1988, was chosen by the ladies of the Elk Point Baptist Church as "their" day, and plans were well laid. A large turn-out of ladies gathered, many coming from other towns, to hear the speakers, the Scripture readings, the singers, and to partake of a lovely luncheon, served by men of the congregation.

Following registration and coffee, all were welcomed and invited to join in prayer by Rev. John McGregor. He then turned the platform over to Margaret Modin (presumably, he then left to make lunch).

Mrs. Modin then invited the Quartet to come forward, and they sang, with all joining in for the chorus. Modin read from the Scriptures, followed by more singing, and readings from a Bonnyville Visitor, together with a lovely solo-with-piano by Rebecca.
Guest speaker for the forenoon was Mary Amalia, of Glendon, a Missionary who has served in Ethiopia, especially during the recent famine in that country.
Miss Amalia spoke dramatically and convincingly of the terrible loss of life, health and hope among the Ethiopian people, and her efforts to help them in their plight. She had arrived to offer help, and was alone for a week, before others arrived to help her.
Illustrating the very difficult problems, she showed colored slides of some of the conditions. People were arriving, at the place where it was intended to offer food and help, in the hundreds, all hungry, many dying, match-stick thin, with illnesses, dysentery, some naked. They carried dying children; some got separated from their families. There was little water, what there was, was contaminated and dirty, so she had to put 'purifier tablets' in it and let it settle overnight, to remove at least some of the impurities.
Everything was very primitive, no latrines, so this was started at once. She had to give many I.V.s, which she had never done before, but found she was able to manage - "with God's help."
Miss Amalia described many of the methods used to try to save the lives of these desperate starving peoples, driven from their homes by the continuing drought, aggravated by war in their land.
She said "God had called her" to go to foreign lands and to be a missionary, and for this she was very grateful, and glad she had followed the course she was called to take.
She closed her talk with a poem, "Stir Me, O Lord" which was indeed stirring, and with the indications that there is again a recurrence of the drought which spelled such disaster before, and that we must all do our part to help our fellow man, surely many will be "stirred" to help.
A short time was given to look over the assortment of books on sale in the basement area, and many purchased copies of these Christian reading materials.
The laden buffet table looked very tempting, and all were happy to hear Pastor John's proclamation at 10 to 12 noon, that luncheon was ready. Did we all take an extra large portion, to compensate for the starvation we had seen pictured just before? I doubt that, but certainly, there are some who are much better fed in this world than others.
The delicious luncheon, served by the men (but prepared by the women) was enjoyed by all. The used dishes disappeared into the kitchen, too, with no thoughts given them by the ladies, as they prepared for an afternoon session, with more readings, music and speakers.
Mary Kassian, of Edmonton, was featured speaker, offering her thought in two sections, 1) "Feminism in Society" and 2) "Feminism in the Church", surely subjects of interest to today's women.
Some of us had to leave before the program ended, regrettably, however, reports indicate that the afternoon portion of the day was as well accepted, and found to be informative, and useful - by some an "eye opener." All in all, an informative and well-spent day.
Chairman of the church group, Shiela Martin, closed the program with a few well-chosen words, and all enjoyed the many hymns interspersed throughout the day.
Those who so carefully planned this day may congratulate themselves on a successful project, a day of sharing with their fellow-womankind.

Save The Children director visits Elk Point CANSAVE group

By Irene Magnusson

The Elk Point Baptist Church was the scene, April 15, 1988, of a presentation by Dr. Zulie Nakhoda, of India, on behalf of "Save the Children" Week. Dr. Nakhoda is Country Director for India, in the Save the Children program.

The group, gathered at 7:30 p.m. to hear the speaker, was not large, but they were highly attentive. Dr. Nakhoda, dressed in traditional silk sari, a tiny delicate lady, spoke from the heart, on the problems of the poor and disadvantaged of her native country.

The work of Save the Children has concentrated on an attempt to educate those people, who often live in the most primitive of shelters, with poor food, little or no medical attention, and almost no chance of bettering their lot without training and knowledge.

"Canada is a different world," the Dr. stated, comparing its meager populations to the 770 millions who inhabit India. Our problems with dual official languages dim compared to the 16 official languages of India, with over a hundred local dialects. The main language is Hindi, and many speak some English - but obviously the problem is huge. They are also saddled with a "caste" system, which is officially banned, but still exists, which prevents the so-called 'untouchables' from going to school with the upper castes, at times.

Life expectancy in India, Dr. Nakhoda stated, is longer than it was, but still many years less than in Canada, while many babies die before the age of five years. Water is contaminated, nutritional food is often lacking, the soil depleted from years of drought, superstition and ignorance often keep people from help they could have.

Save the Children has worked on a program of education, where the children are in school, mothers are taught a bit about nutrition, how to prepare better meals, and the value of sanitation in keeping healthy.

The program has been, basically, one of 'developing people', an effort to help them help themselves.

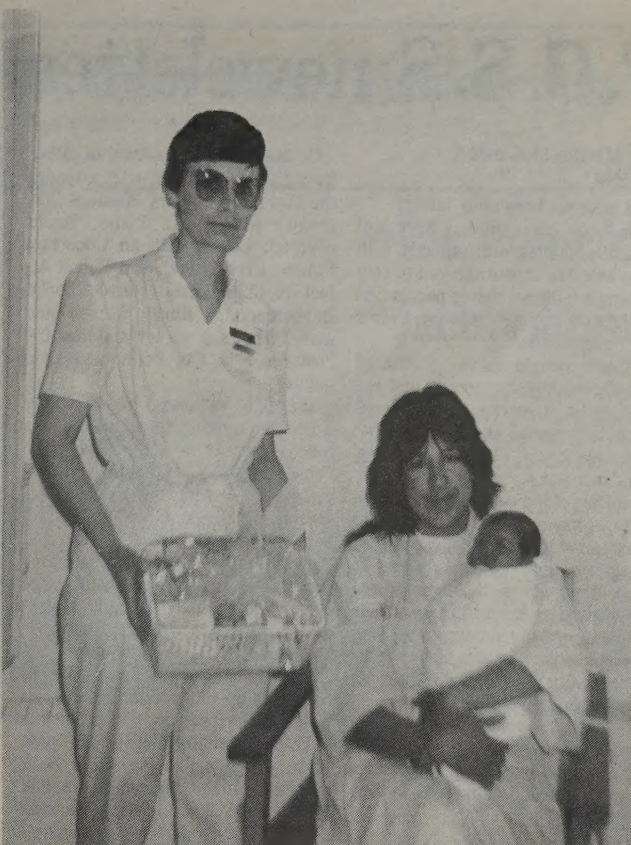

Dr. Nakhoda's speaking tour will take her to many communities in the two weeks she will be travelling across Canada. Local groups, such as the group in Elk Point, have assisted in raising funds for the work of this - and other - dedicated social workers.

Elk Point's group is lead by Marnie McCowan, with great assistance from Elaine Bjorkman and her family, as well as others. Last year the group was able to raise around $1900 for this good cause, and are to be commended for their efforts. The plight of these underprivileged persons is hard to ignore.

Depicting the changes made in the 'old' ways, Dr. Nakhoda stated that now "even girls are allowed to go to school," - (if there is a school to go to). Crafts to help the poor earn a living are also taught, and while the work done so far is "Only a drop in the ocean of suffering" she intends to continue to "fight ignorance and apathy," to the best of her ability, and with the help of other caring humans - surely much will be accomplished.

Reverend John McGregor offered prayers and a request for God's blessings on the project.

Coffee, juice and snacks were offered by the church ladies, with a time for informal questions and talk with the earnest and dedicated little lady, who had come so far to communicate her country's problems.

Centre front is Dr. Zulie Nakhoda, guest speaker from India. The group raised funds by means of coin capsules (placed in stores, etc.), a table at bazaars, and personal donations by the public.

Kozina back in nomination race

Lac La Biche lawyer Jan Kozina, who briefly thought of dropping his bid for candidacy for the Federal Progressive Conservative nomination in the new Beaver River constituency, is back in the race.

Two weeks ago, Kozina had contemplated stepping out in favor of his friend and former client, Dr. Paul Yewchuk, a former Member of Parliament in the Athabasca riding. However, Yewchuk has since decided against letting his name stand, with the result that Kozina is reviving his attempt to win the nomination.

Kozina is busy touring the new constituency, and is eager to meet with Conservatives in its easternmost extremity at a gathering tomorrow night, April 28, at Frog Lake Hall.

Job creation and development of tourism potential are high priorities with Kozina, who helped to develop native arts and crafts programs in Lac La Biche, and who has interesting suggestions to make regarding new potential industries, such as the manufacture of peat plant pots.

Kozina is interested in the preservation of historical artifacts and was the founder of the Lac La Biche Mission Historical Society. His visit to Elk Point last week coincided with the tragic fire which destroyed Lac La Biche's Historic MacArthur Inn, over which he expressed feelings of deep sorrow and sense of loss.

On the tourism side, Kozina's efforts to promote his area as a tourist destination by initiating innovative projects have earned him the title of "Admiral" of the Lac La Biche Yacht Club. He recognizes substantial potential for tourism in the new riding, much of which is located in the Lakeland Tourist Zone, and says that tourism development in the area "hasn't even started yet."

Out Our Way

By Mildred Dunham

With all the baby calves and goats making their arrival, the news has once again taken second place.

As an update for Ferguson Flats:

The final whist drive was held a couple of weeks ago. John Wayne Hillebrand was over-all winner for the season taking home the first place trophy for the men. His sister Jennifer was first place winner for the ladies. These two attended every game and take their card playing seriously.

Ferguson Flats are having their cemetery clean-up this Wednesday, April 27. They would appreciate it if relatives of people buried there would come and check the grave markers, etc. as well as help with the work.

Nick & Pearl Zapesocki had their 50th Wedding Anniversary recently. Friends and relatives who attended said they had a good crowd and are offering their congratulations. They said it was a wedding that Nick and Pearl couldn't afford fifty years ago but that didn't stop them from spending their life together and raising their family. The couple farmed at Ferguson Flats before retiring to the Lodge at Elk Point.

Friends and relatives of Raymond Brown wish him a speedy recovery from his mishap at Wainwright. Raymond is presently at University Hospital in Edmonton.

A few people around the district are proud owners of stuffed birds, animals and fish; the good results of a taxidermy course at Ferguson Flats.

I attended a goat meeting at Bonnyville on Sunday, April 24. Twenty-seven goat and sheep breeders attended this meeting. They are trying to build a slaughter house which will butcher sheep and goats at a reasonable price. The location would be in the Lakeland, either Bonnyville or Elk Point. They are presently doing a study to prove the feasibility of such a project. The government is willing to subsidize 40% of the cost with the balance a loan to be paid back by shareholders.

is through fund raising or your tax dollars. It is still your money.

To go slow approach bares the fact that after 50 years as a municipal government Elk Point has only one accredited Ball Diamond.

I can only fault this council that we may have been over enthusiastic in getting to much done with too little money.

In conversation with numerous citizens who signed the petition it became very evident that all the facts were not presented fairly by the petitioner when obtaining their signatures.

Other communities have built and continue to build circular concepts which have proven to be very popular to both the fans and ballplayers. As is the case in many instances, fault can be found with everything.

To get 4 Ball Diamonds for the price of 2 in my opinion is a very good deal.

My opinion, Your money, Play ball.

Look Who's 4!

SEEING HOW THEY LINE UP — Elk Point 4-H Beef Project members held a mini achievement day at Stoney Lake Sunday, putting their calves through their showing paces under the direction of senior member Dwayne

Vogel (far right). The 4-Hers also were given a clipping demonstration by Brent Coates of Coates Cattle Company.

Cable T. V. service expanded

Representatives of A1 Cable Systems were in Elk Point last Wednesday to introduce their newly expanded cable television service, which now offers a total of 14 channels.

Toronto's Much Music Channel 17.

The Sports Network Channel 18, and Seattle's KING NBC Channel 19 require the use of a cable-ready television or a convertor. Superchannel pay television is also available, on Channel 3, as is Access Network on Channel 11.

Listings by Channel are as follows: 2-CKSA (CBC) Lloydminster; 3-Superchannel; 4-CITL (CTV) Lloydminster; 5-Community Channel; 6-CBX-FT (CBC FR) Edmonton; 7-WTVS (PBS) Detroit; 8-CITV Edmonton; 9-CHCH Hamilton; 10-WXYZ (ABC) Detroit; 11-Access Network, Edmonton; 12-WJBK (CBS) Detroit; 13-WDIV (NBC) Detroit; 17-Much Music, Toronto; 18-The Sports Network, Toronto; 19-KING (NBC) Seattle.

The Lakeland Review is contacting their TV listings supplier to get the weekly listings updated as soon as possible. Please bear with us until these can be obtained.

Resident of the month

Elk Point Hospital long-term patient John Boratynec was honored as Resident of the Month last Friday, with a small celebration including his wife, his brother Harry and sister-in-law, his daughter Joslien Wannechko and two of her children.

The 91 year old Boratynec came to Canada from the Ukraine in 1913 with his parents, sister and brothers and lived in the Myrnam and Lake Eliza areas. In 1939, he met his wife Telsie, marrying on November 16 of that year. The couple bought a farm in the Lake Eliza area in 1942, becoming parents of 4 sons and one daughter, Victor of St. Paul, Lawrence of Edmonton, Richard of Elk Point, Orest, who passed away in his youth, and Joslien of Derwent.

Mr. Boratynec came to the hospital as a resident last July.

Entertainment for the gathering was provided by John Pankow, who played a dulcimer crafted many years ago by his uncle. A fine lunch was provided by Alice Krouchuk and Pauline Pankiw.

LIONS PRESENT TO PLAYGROUND — Elk point Lions' Club President Tad Reed presents Diane Huffman with a cheque toward the construction of the Playschool/Parent Nursery Playground. A work bee is planned for this Saturday, with hopes that much of the construction will be completed that day.

Grant MacEwan visits Elk Point Library

By Irene Magnusson

Dr. Grant MacEwan, author, historian, conservationist - doing still the things many of us dream of doing - but somehow fail. It was a pleasure to be allowed to join the attentive group in the Elk Point Public Library, Sunday evening, April 17th, 1988, and hear once again our very own Alberta author, Grant MacEwan, speak.

Invited by the North East Library Project, in commemoration of the National Book Festival Week, Dr. MacEwan chose to come to Elk Point, from many invitations, he said, because "Elk Point has a distinctiveness," that of being a small town, where most people know each other... where, he said "if you have a problem (in a town of 1500) you don't worry too much, as there are 1499 neighbors ready to help you."

He cautioned Elk Point to keep it's uniqueness and charm, and suggested he, too, would live in a small centre, except for the large Library at his command in the city (Calgary). He went on to praise Elk Point's Library, noting it was filled with learning devices, books, pictures, maps, etc., at the public's finger tips.

He regreted the trend to read less, especially as shown by the younger generation - who seem to know more about TV and Comic book heroes than they do about the true heroes and great people of our own Canada.

Since Dr. MacEwan's birth, on a farm in Manitoba, in 1902, and especially following his move to Calgary, Alberta, he has been interested in the history of our country, and the great men and women who helped create the civilization we know, today.

In his books, he has recorded many of these events, and especially the parts played by the people. He has recorded, too, histories of many areas of western Canada.

Dr. MacEwan, at 86, suffers a bit of hearing loss, but doesn't hesitate to swing right into a story, with our fear of forgetting homes, or dates, or places, as many of us do. His speaking voice is clear and strong, and the twinkle is still there in his eye.

Tall and lean, Dr. MacEwan moves quickly, answers clearly, and gives the impression of being a very alert person. Rather than reading from the array of his books displayed on a table beside him, he chose one, for the title, then proceeded to relate the outline of the story, a most dramatic one, telling of the first white woman who came to live in the west, Marie Anne Lajimodiere, eventually the Grandmother of Louis Riel.

A visit to your library will show you the long list of books authored by this remarkable Albertan. In reply to a question, Dr. MacEwan said he will continue to write, as long as he lives. "Writing has done something for me," he said. "Books are my best friends. I will always write, as long as God gives me breath." His present book-in-progress is a story of the history of Calgary in the making, to honor a "Man of the Century", James Walker.

Another of MacEwan's concerns is the conservation of our world - soil, air, wildlife, water, forests and plants. These should be the concern of all of us.

Dr. MacEwan's tour, which besides Elk Point, includes Grand Center, sponsored by the North East Library Project, is funded by a Canada Council grant, under the guidance of Leslie Keith, Co-ordinator. He was introduced to the large crowd by Adele Mandryk, member of the Elk Point Library Board.

Mandryk also mentioned various improvements in the Library, additional attractions being added to their shelves, new programs in the making. A survey of Library users' needs, as well as students' needs has been made. Among other attractions offered by the Library are such special events as the present display of art - water colors by local artist, Donna Dahmer.

Fred Kryvenchuk was the lucky winner of the door prize, an autographed book by Grant MacEwan. M.L.A. John Drobot presented the speaker with a pin, others with books, etc., for the famous author's autograph, to which he cheerfully complied. The end to a very interesting evening came almost too soon.

J.W. GRANT MCEWAN — Author, historian, former MLA, Alberta Liberal Party leader, alderman, Mayor of Calgary, lieutenant-governor of Alberta 1966-1974, and author of over 30 books — as he speaks to an attentive audience in the Elk Point Library, April 17, 1988, and Leslie Keith, Development Officer, Northeast Library Project, seated.

WHAT'S NEWS at the Library

During the very successful Trade Fair, we had the opportunity to increase public awareness of our library and its many services. We would like to thank everyone who supported our snack bar; a special thanks to Tags for their sponsorship and many thanks to those volunteers, staff and board members who worked at the booth and donated the homemade goodies. Much appreciation is extended to Louise Krissa and Laura MacKay for their many hours of hard work and dedication to this project. The lucky winners of the book draw were: Helen Pederson of St. Paul and Tobey Conrad of Elk Point.

On Sunday April 17, 1988, in honor of National Book Festival Week, the Northeast Library Project sponsored an author tour by Grant MacEwan. A dinner was prepared by the Elk Point Library Board and staff to honor Grant MacEwan and to thank our many volunteers for their assistance throughout the year, as well as to recognize other members of the community who support our library. After a delicious meal, the reading was open to the general public, whereupon Grant MacEwan delighted us with his many historic tales. Thank-you to Spring Park Hall for assisting us with this project.

The door prize, an autographed book, "The Best of Grant MacEwan" was won by Fred Kryvenchuk. The people who attended also had a private viewing of Donna Dahmer's "Wisps of Watercolor" art display. About 75 people turned out for this very successful event.

Card of Thanks

The family of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Zapesocki wish to extend their appreciation to the many relatives and friends who so generously contributed in many ways, to the occasion of their parents' "50th Wedding Anniversary" on Saturday, April 16, 1988 in Elk Point.

In Memoriam

WASYLISHEN, William

In loving memory of our dear husband, father and grandfather William Wasylishen who passed away May 3, 1987.

One year has passed since that sad day

When one we loved was called away
God took him home - it was his will
Within our hearts he liveth still.

Ever remembered and sadly missed by wife Doris, children and grandchildren.

Thank You

We would like to extend our sincere gratitude to the following people who helped us in many ways on Saturday, April 16, 1988, when a fire threatened our property.

Special thanks to Clint Erickson, Gabe, Lionel Lavoie, the Elk Point Fire Department and to all the other neighbors who in any way responded in our time of need.

Your kind assistance was greatly appreciated and will long be remembered.

Sincerely,
Jim & Maggie Bergstrom &
Family

By Shirley Osinchuk

As part of their celebration of Education Week, the Clandonald students invited their families to a Public Speaking Contest on Friday, April 22. Each grade had selected three representatives. Grades 1 to 4 learned and recited poems. Grades 5 to 9 gave speeches they had written themselves.

All were entertaining and spoke with confidence. The judging was not easy but a winner has to be chosen for each grade: Grade 1 - Lindsey Rewuski; Grade 2 - Ashleen Minish; Grade 3 - Kyla Harasiuk; Grade 4 - Marty Etherington; Grade 5 - Angela Carter; Grade 6 - Jennifer Lawrence; Grade 7 - Brent Martin; Grade 8 - Shawna Kiziak; Grade 9 - Kim Rewuski.

Friday evening the 4-H Broken Stitches Sewing Club held its Achievement Day in the Senior Citizen's Friendship Centre. Mrs. Leona Cusack, an experienced 4-H leader, judged the girls' displays. They had sewn sweat pants and learned to embroider, crochet and do other crafts. Mrs. Cusack commended them on their artistic displays and exceptional work. She mentioned that she knew from experience that sometimes projects were finished too quickly, which was the cause of some mistakes. Christina Garnier received the highest overall mark on her display.

Tammy DeFord was senior winner for record books, receiving the East Alta, Co-op trophy with Christina Garnier second. Jennifer Lawrence as junior winner and Ellen Lawrence was second.

Jodi Lawrence designed the winning logo for the club.

The Craig's Department Store trophy winner was Katherine Martin for senior public speaking. Christina Garnier won the runner-up ribbon. Angie Carter received the Clandonald Agricultural Society trophy for junior public speaking, with Jennifer Lawrence runner-up.

Nadine DeFord, Leah Anne Grant and Jennifer Lawrence received awards for perfect attendance. All members received certificates to recognize their completion of the club project.

4-H Highway Clean-up is on Sat., May 7. The Sewing Club will be meeting at the junction of Highway 41 and 45 at 9 p.m. and invites everyone.

to join them on clean up and for hot logs after.

Our sympathy and prayers are with the family and many friends of Everett McNamara who passed away suddenly on April 22. He had lived in Landonville all his life. He wrote in his story for the "Landonville Trails" book, "I was born in a log shack in Landonville on the homestead on March 15, 1916. Mrs. Lulu Johnson being the midwife ... Landonville is a good place to live in with good neighbours." The McNamaras are good neighbours.

There will be a Scarf Tying Demonstration by Max Clar Boutique in Landonville Hall at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, April 28. Bring a scarf if you have one. Lunch served.

Now is the time to arrange for congratulation for MLA, Prime Minister etc., for the 25th anniversaries, senior's birthdays, etc., that will be celebrated this summer. Call me - 853-2098 - and I will pass along the details to your MLA, whose office will contact the others. It takes time, so do it now.

Next week: regular meetings of: Ag. Society - Monday, May 2; CWL - Tuesday, May 3; Knights of Columbus - Wednesday, May 4; 4-H Highway Clean-up - Saturday, May 7; Mother's Day Breakfast - Knights of Columbus - Sunday, May 8.

First meeting for Pork Club

On April 8th the first meeting of the Elk Point and District Pork Producers Club was held at the Empress Restaurant. The purpose of this club is to provide information on various aspects of pork production and help producers reach a higher level of production. Other self help groups of this nature have been organized in Eastern Canada and this is the second hog-group now operating in Alberta.

Thirty-eight local producers and three feed sales representatives attended. The guest speakers for the evening were Gerry Smith, veterinarian from Vermilion, and Ron Bazylo, regional hog expert with Alberta Agriculture. The topics were the lactating sow and the nursing pig. Both speakers gave excellent presentations that were useful and easy to understand. A very interesting discussion followed.

The Pork Club plans to meet twice a year. The next meeting will be held in November. Anyone interested in more information could contact Glenn Flanders 724-2269 or Tommy Engstrom 741-2105.
